Risks & Contingencies

S.W.O.T Analysis

Strengths

- Consistent branding with a memorable & recognisable slogan
- Platform-specific content for Instagram, TikTok & Email
- Simple, easy-to-remember 3-step concept
- Strong customer engagement through interactive content & CTA's
- Multi-channel reach with multiple touchpoints

Weaknesses

- High content demand across multiple platforms
- Reliance on social media algorithms for organic reach
- Audience overlap may lead to repetitive messaging.
- Email engagement may be low if subject lines or offers aren't compelling

Opportunities

- Leverage UGC to build authenticity, trust & organic reach
- Partner with skincare influencers to reach new audiences
- Extend campaign for seasonal moments (Summer, gifting, New Year Resolutions)
- Build community through testimonials & dermatologist approval to boost trust

Threats

- Highly competitive skincare market with similar messaging
- Fast-changing social media trends may reduce relevance
- Consumer skepticism if claims lack authenticity or evidence
- Over-diversified campaign may confuse consumers
- Focusing only on a female audience may alienate male/non-binary consumers

Risks	Problem	Mitigation	Long-term Outcome
1 Consumer Skepticism	If claims are exaggerated or not fully backed by evidence, consumers may lose trust and turn away from the brand	• Send products to well-known dermatologists for independent testing & reviews • Promote that products are science-backed and explain how key ingredients work	A trusted skincare brand with scientific results promoted online and strong credibility in the skincare community
2 Alienating Customers	Marketing to one type of consumer may exclude others and discourage potential customers from purchasing	• Ensure campaigns are inclusive and gender neutral, representing all consumers.	A loyal, inclusive audience that feels represented and continues to choose NovaSkin
3 Competitive Skincare Market	The market is saturated with many brands and conflicting claims, making it harder to stand out and gain trust	• Showcase why our products are better (ingredients, dermatology tested, science-backed) • Highlight proven results consumers can achieve within a set timeframe	A more trusted brand with proven results that attracts new customers and drives long-term growth
